Description

We were approaching the windward mark, the first leg of the second race of the day, on starboard tack. Boat number 37, after touching the mark, stopped on it while attempting to re-approach it. We were tried to avoid a collision, having no escape route to windward, given that there were one boat that don t give us room to go pointed and boats approaching from the port side. At that moment, the wind was over 25 knots. After the collision, we managed to pass the mark at the first available opportunity, penalizing ourselves with two circles.
