7. Description Of Incident

I was on the starting line, pin half. During the last seconds of the starting procedure i was on the left of the boat 4469 i was leeward and i didn't move because i wanted to gain space to the boat on my left that was already starting to move. The boat 4469 instead of waiting for me to move he turned away from the Wind and he hit my boat on windward, this led me to a horrible start and he gained a lot of advantage from this move, if he had respected the rule i had a Better start and he probably a worse One.... I want to make really clear that i asked for space before he turned into me, and that i protested screaming and i am SURE that he Heard It because he turned the face to me, he looked at me and he shaked his head to Say that he wouldn't do the penalty. The boat 3791 had seen everything
