7. Description Of Incident

A port tack boat (#21) approached us while we were on starboard tack, laying the windward mark, 2-3 boatlengths from the windward mark. Before they started to tack, it was clear to us that we would need to change course to avoid them. They started to tack between the mark and us, and we had to significantly alter course up to avoid hitting them. They had not yet achieved close hauled course on starboard tack. No contact occurred because we avoided it (rule 14).
