

Notice to Sailors

Dear Sailors

The RS Feva is a simple not so simple boat.

After inquiries from sailors the jury was asked to make an interpretation on bridle adjustment.

They decided together with Feva class management and the class measurer the following:

The one pull adjustable bridle height system is class legal because it can be made with the materials provided with race kit.

However it is not permitted to include thimbles, blocks or similar because they are not included in the kit as supplied and are not listed as permitted changes in the Class Rules.

To avoid being protested during the championships sailors can take those thimbles out of use.

Use some tape so they are not part of the system.

Thank you for your patience.

Your class measurer

Frans van den Biggelaar