7. Description Of Incident

We were on Starboard, 2-3 boat lengths away from the first windward mark in race1 on Saturday, when Alchemy (Sail# 275) tried to come through on port. We yelled starboard and then were forced to duck to avoid t-boning them. They responded by yelling back at us to tack as we began to duck (unclear why - we did not need to tack to clear the mark). They tacked onto starboard as soon as they crossed us. Because we had to duck, we were forced to tack to get back up to the mark, then duck 4-5 boats because there was no room to get through. We yelled protest at the time of the incident and displayed our red flag.
