7. Description Of Incident

On the last general recall of my fleet, i saw that the pinend throw the anchor around the warning signal. It was drifting all the time till the start. Also, as i saw on 2 minutes to start that half of the fleet was over, I didn't even push for the start. On the start signal i was way behind the other boats, inside the line, not even taking the sail. Few seconds after the starting signal, i start slowly to pull the sail and i was checking the exit of the line for my next start, as they put a general recall again. I'm sure that i was not over.
