7. Description Of Incident

There had been a general recall on a black flag start for the blue fleet. I was waiting for race committee to finish writing down numbers for the blue fleet general recall. I had assumed another start was going to be run for blue fleet since the general was still up and no ap was used. The general recall flag was then taken down and the red fleet class flag was then put up. I was not ready for my start and I took me about 6 or 7 minutes to make it to the line. I was therefor late for the start and had my worst score of the regatta.
